

MassHealth Matters to Massachusetts

In Massachusetts, Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) are combined into one program called MassHealth.

1. MassHealth provides access to health care for more people than many realize, including:¹

67%

2 in 3 people in low-income families (<133% of federal poverty level)

25%

1 in 4 Massachusetts residents

42%

2 in 5 children of all incomes

By providing health insurance to so many, MassHealth supports the Commonwealth in achieving the highest coverage rate in the nation.

¹ These statistics are based on MassHealth enrollment data from State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2022. Because of temporary measures in place during the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency, enrollment has continued to increase in the months since SFY 2022. Enrollment is expected to decline again once these measures expire in April 2023.

2. MassHealth brings in $12.5 BILLION in federal revenues to support the state economy

Nearly 90% of all federal revenue to Massachusetts comes from the MassHealth program

Every dollar of MassHealth spending is reimbursed by at least 50 cents of federal revenue

3. MassHealth creates and supports jobs in the health care sector

MassHealth represents a significant portion of health care providers' revenues, including:

54%

nursing facilities

44%

community health centers

38%

prenatal care

4. MassHealth fills significant gaps in Medicare

329,000

seniors and people with disabilities who are Medicare members receive support through MassHealth to cover:

- Medicare copays and deductibles, and
- Services not covered by Medicare, including long term care.

5. MassHealth is positioned to help the Commonwealth address some of its most pressing challenges, including:

Improving health equity

Hispanic and Black members make up 30 percent of the total MassHealth population.

Addressing the behavioral health crisis

MassHealth is the largest payer of behavioral health services in the state.

Promoting insurance coverage during economic downturns

MassHealth keeps coverage rates steady during recessions.
